

Covered Wagon

RECORD OF ALEXANDER CAMPBELL'S FAMILY INTO SOUTHERN INDIANA AND LATER EVENTS READ LIKE A STORY BOOK.

By LARENE DAVIES RHODES.

MANY and of infinite variety are the tales of hardy pioneers trekking westward by covered wagon in the early days to establish new homes in the virgin wilderness of Missouri and Kansas, Illinois and Iowa.

Through the picturesque hills of southern Indiana came many of them, following the stage-coach routes, stopping at stage-coach taverns or encamping on a nearby hillside, where they were sure of being welcome and finding the human companionship they must have craved on those long, long journeys through the sparsely settled countryside.

Some of the most fascinating of these stories center around Orange county, Indiana, where the world-famous mineral waters of French Lick Springs bubble up into pools of healing that have long been the Mecca of thousands of healthseekers.

Of them all, perhaps no tale of covered wagon days dips more deeply into the realm of romance than that of the Alexander Campbell family of Highland county, Virginia, who passed this way in June of the year 1822, returning to their beloved Virginia home after some three years of bitter disillusionment in Missouri, where they had gone to seek their fortunes.

Alexander Campbell and Margaret Brown Campbell were the parents of John Campbell, who in turn, was the father of Dr. Morgan Brown Campbell, a Confederate soldier in the War of the Rebellion. Next in direct line comes the name of Dr. Morgan Brown Campbell's son, Stanley Brown Campbell, who, curiously enough some 115 years after his forebears had passed through Orange county, Indiana, by covered wagon, came to the French Lick Springs Hotel to serve that well-known hostelry in the capacity of convention manager. Mr. Campbell came to the springs from a similar post with the Homestead Hotel in Washington, D. C., having also at various times been employed at other important Eastern hotels.

Strange Coincidence.

It seems a strange coincidence that chance contacts and his own efficiency in his chosen line of work, should have brought him back to the scene of one of the most tragic events that occurred on that long-ago journey of the Alexander Campbell's back to their home in Virginia.

It was Mr. Campbell's mother who recalled as soon as her son became associated with the French Lick Springs Hotel Company, that great-grandmother Margaret Brown Campbell had been laid to rest somewhere in this vicinity in some almost forgotten burying ground along the old stage road from New Albany to Vincennes.

The story of her demise had been gleaned from the yellowing pages of an ancient diary kept by James Campbell, a second son of Alexander and Margaret Brown Campbell and thus the great uncle of Mr. Stanley Campbell.

It was the summer of 1822 and the Campbells, having crossed the Wabash by ferry at Vincennes, camped on the night of June 11 "on the prairie in the edge of town." They were accompanied by a slave woman and her two children, who were servants of the Campbell family. Supplies and provisions were stowed in the one covered wagon in the small caravan, practically all of the members of the family and the slaves as well, riding horse-back. (This last bit of information came from a letter written in later years by one of the little slave girls grown-up.)

Suitable, indeed, for was not Sarah also a sojourner in a strange land? And did not Abraham stand up before his dead, saying, "I am a stranger and a sojourner with you; give me a possession of a burying place with you, that I may bury my dead out of my sight."

The previously-mentioned letter of the little slave girl, tells of her mother singing at the funeral at the request of Mrs. Campbell just prior to her passing. And in fancy, one can hear the rich, mellow voice of that devoted colored woman raised in doleful lamentation at the death of her beloved mistress.

Burial Place Unknown.

There is no word in the diary however, as to the place of burial or the grave but there follows this telling entry of Thursday, June 27. "Left our camp at Foyles. With melancholy, bid adieu to the last solitary home of her who has so long been the life of our company."

And thus ends the brief record of the life of Margaret Brown

Campbell, buried somewhere either in Orange County or in Martin county, very near the Orange county line.

The Foyles farm has never been located and since there appear to be no records in that name, it is probable that the farm spoken of did not belong to Foyles. And while many of the people and places mentioned in the diary are easily accounted for, as yet the grave of this pioneer mother has never been found, due to the confusion arising from the close association of the Foyles name with the story.

Perhaps some day, however, in one of the many small, overgrown burying grounds that lie along the old stage route, may yet be found the "last solitary home of her who has so long been the life of our company," and whose great grandson, by a strange trick of fate, has become convention manager of one of the swankiest resort hotels in the world, within a comparatively few miles of the unknown resting place of his great-grandmother.

Pet Elk Made Trip.

It is revealed in the diary also that a pet elk, acquired in Missouri was taken back to Virginia on the trip, and it is not unlikely that other stock, including a cow or two may have been tethered to the back of the wagon.

At any rate, they laid in provisions at Vincennes, "paying 6 cents for bacon and $2 a hundredweight for flour." And on the following day, traveled a distance of 13 miles, encamping that night on a hill above the White river bottoms.

On Thursday, the 13th, they traveled two and a half miles through muddy bottomlands to Hawkins's ferry, where they "paid $1.37½ for crossing, proceeding four miles to Washington, where they stopped for breakfast."

Quaintly recorded also is the story of the 14th, when they encountered very bad roads, which must have weakened the spokes of their wagon wheels. For on Saturday, June 15, we read, "Start early. Proceed two or three miles when one of the wagon wheels gives way and we stop, trying to brace it up with false spokes. After we get it finished, we proceed a short distance to a house—James Foyles, where Mother has stopped. She was not well yesterday. Today, too bad to proceed further."

Doctor Called.

And again, on Sunday, June 16—"One Thomas Leonard is sent to Paoli for Dr. Blanchard."

It is interesting to note here that Dr. Blanchard was at that time one of the few doctors in Orange county, but died within a week or two of the above-recorded incident and was buried in the cemetery at Paoli, which at that time was little more than a group of log houses around a public square.

To continue the Campbell narrative—Margaret Brown Campbell died at the Foyles home on Tuesday, June 25, near 10 o'clock p. m. And a minister was sent for.

The entries of the next two days are at once keenly expressive of the stoicism of these sturdy pioneers and the well-nigh insupportable grief they must have experienced at having to leave their mother in the southern Indiana wilderness.

Funeral Recorded.

Thus, Wednesday, June 26th, "Remain at camp all day. About 4 o'clock in afternoon, the coffin is brought. A Mr. Byrum" (doubtless the minister mentioned above) "delivers a very feeling discourse from some verses of the 23d chapter of Genesis, where the death of Sarah is mentioned, which is very suitable to the present case."

Copy of Letter to Louise Love Campbell.

Israel C. Love and Charlotte Pease were married December 24, 1837. They had twelve children. Your Dad was the 11th. Uncle Joe, still living, was the 12th. Hanson Harvey Love was born March 22, 1857, died January 24, 1907 in Kentucky. His mother, Charlotte Pease, was born in New York. I can follow one line of her ancestry. You might be able to follow more.

CHARLOTTE PEASE, born October 14, 1814, in New York, married Israel C. Love, December 24, 1837; died April 13, 1880; in Indiana.

The said Charlotte Pease was the daughter of Uriah (Darius) Pease, born June 29, 1768, Conn., died 1835 or 1840, and his wife, Persis Stoddard, born December 10, 1778, Weathersfield, Conn., died 1829, Dearborn Co., Ind. Married 1808.

The said Persis Stoddard was the daughter of Joseph Stoddard, born 1747, died 1792, and his wife, Mary Fuller, born January 29, 1748. Married June 23, 1768.

The said Joseph Stoddard was the son of Zebulon Stoddard died 1761, and his wife, Abigail Hun; married 1745.

The said Zebulon Stoddard was the son of Jonathan Stoddard and his wife, Abigail Wickham; married 1717.

The said Jonathan Stoddard was the son of John Stoddard, born 1646, and his wife Elizabeth Custis.

The said John Stoddard was the son of John Stoddard, born 1620 in England, died 1664, and his wife, Mary Foote; married 1642.

The said Mary Foote was the daughter of Nathaniel Foote, and his wife, Elizabeth Deming.

The above mentioned Elizabeth Custis was the daughter of Thomas Custis.

(1) Mary Fuller: Newington Census, 1776.

(2) Nathaniel Foote: See: SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS, FIRST SUPPLEMENT TO INDEX OF ANCESTORS, 1941. p. 97.

Peases lived at Enfield, Conn. Save these, and if interested continue searches. Possibly Mary Fuller was Mayflower Stock.

Write to me and good luck.

Sincerely,

Signed: Clara M. Love

After the Bible came into my family the records were badly kept until I tried to put in the children of Israel H. and Amanda L. Love. By research my sister and I have learned:-

Charlotte Pease was d. of Uriah Pease and Persis Stoddard both of Conn. They moved to N.Y. shortly after marriage where Charlotte was born. Persis S. Pease's mother was Mary Fuller who d. in N.Y. Not too long thereafter the family migrated to the vicinity of Cincinnati, later on to Ind. Charlotte was quite well-educated, and a good tailor. Also a lovable disposition. She descended from the Peases of Enfield, Conn. and John Stoddard who came to Weathersfield, Conn. early and m. a dau of Nathaniel Foote. Thus we are attached to the Footes

Israel Carson Love was the son of Hanson B. Love b. 2-17-1777 in Md. He was brought to Ky. very early, became a hunter in the wilderness, married Polly Carson, dau. of John Carson and Hester Lewis Carson. Polly was probably a nickname as it proved to be for Hester Lewis Carson. The tombstone shows John Carson's wife's name to be Hester. Pioneers and others of Colonial background were much given to nicknames. Israel H. Love was always called Dick. Why, I don't know.

John Carson was Revolutionary soldier from Virginia. Moved into Ind. from Ky. My DAR # 219952.

Genealogical material copied from letters received by Louise Love Campbell from Clara M. Love:

Nov.21,1948 - We are having to do a little more research work on the Peases to obtain National DAR approval. Alma is trying to help us. She is a descendant of Harvey Pease who was a brother of Charlotte Pease. Aunt Permelia's daughter at Claremont, Calif. made an affidavit which will be helpful. She remembers things her mother told her. Aunt Permelia was older than my father and was married long before he was. This daughter is quite a bit older than I. I think we'll get the approval, but it may take some time yet. Then it will be established for all connected lines if they can prove their connection. Family bibles and birth certificates. George's daughters are eligible to DAR. In fact there are dozens of relatives who are.

Mar.23,1948 - The State DAR conference at Los Angeles was a fine affair. Besides attending many of the sessions I looked around in the genealogical libraries which were only a stone's throw from the Biltmore Hotel where the conference met. Then I went with Manta to Riverside and browsed slightly in the small genealogical lib. there. But I got an important lead there. I went to the Sutro branch of the State Lib. in San Francisco yesterday and cleared up the link connecting us with the Uriah Pease who gave his life in the Revolution. I'm sending you the material with the references or authority for the statements. Please file in your Bibles or rather paste it in so that it won't be lost. Also I'm sending you the corrected Mayflower line. The old man who helped me first on that had the wrong Fuller I think. His Mary m. a Smith and the descendant of Samuel m. the Stoddard. I am sending that info with the references. I'm proud to have descended from the first doctor in New England. Likewise please save.

Dear Louise,

Completing a tour of probably 7500 miles, I arrive home yesterday. To be sure I was somewhat tired and foot-sore, but was really quite well and contented. The trip was very instructive, indeed. The weather was extremely hot, but is quite pleasant here.

I visited Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, New York City, Boston and Chicago. At every place mentioned except Philadelphia, I took specially conducted sightseeing tours. In that way I was able to visit points of interest which otherwise I could not have found.

I am very glad indeed that I had the pleasure of finding you, and I hope that you will find material upon our ancestry and let me know things that so far I have no way of learning. Can you give me the authority which you were reading on the Loves and Carsons?

I'll give you some of the data here:

Louise Love - Hanson H. Love & Minnie S. Love.

Hanson H. Love - Israel Carson Love & Charlotte Pease Love.

Israel Carson Love - Hanson B. Love & Polly Carson Love.

Polly Carson Love - John Carson & Polly Lewis.

John Carson was born May 3, 1761. He enlisted in the Revolutionary War from Henry Co., Va. July 1780 for 3 months. In the fall he reenlisted for 7 months. He was in the Battle of Camden, May 10, 1781. Also he was in a skirmish on the James River. After the Revolution he moved into Ky. then into Ind. He applied for a pension in 1833. It was granted. Later he received a land grant in Noble Co., Ind. According to his granddaughter Mary Love Seaschulz, he died in Franklin Co., Ind. 1843. I obtained other information from the Pension Bureau, Washington, D.C. It is recorded in Washington D.A.R. headquarters under both Manta's and my membership records. My record is # 219952.

Hanson B. Love was born in Maryland, 1777, Feb. 17, according to Aunt Mary Seaschulz (mentioned above, now dead) Moved to Ky. as a child. Was a pioneer hunter many years. Moved to Ind. My Dad remembered him and told me he died in Iowa when the Israel Carson Love family and others lived near Marshalltown, Iowa. I'd be much interested in his ancestry, but I don't know more about it. I believe that there was a Viers in his ancestry for the name was much used among the Loves.

Sam Fuller Genealogy Vol. 2, p. 66. The genealogist knew nothing further about this line. Now it didn't ~~exaggerate~~ ~~into~~ thin air.
 They moved somewhere and I think into Conn. It agrees with what Aunt Lucinda Love Flagg told me and what Father said that his mother had ancestors on the Mayflower. Perhaps some day I'll run into the rest of it. Perhaps not. If this line belongs to us, we had two is not three ancestors who signed the Mayflower Compact.

I am enclosing a research report listing the sources I checked for your ancestors. I believe I have found a little information, but in Edgar county rather than Vigo county. I wonder if you have already seen the Edgar county sources.

There are many references to a John Campbell in the Vigo county histories, but he is just mentioned in passing as purchasing land, serving on a jury, acting as county treasurer, etc. He was serving on a jury in 1819 so he was not your John, and it's hard to tell whether he was connected with your Campbells at all. One reference states that he had a child kidnapped by Indians and spent many years in an unsuccessful search for it but doesn't name any of his children.

I did find one item that no doubt concerns your John and may be very significant. A John H. Campbell married a Margaret Ewing here in 1835, and the same year a Minerva Campbell married a John Ewing. I think that was a case of Campbell siblings marrying Ewing siblings.

A printed version of the 1850 Edgar county census proved to be the most helpful source of all. John and Margaret Campbell are listed, as you have probably noticed, along with many Ewings, who were probably Margaret's siblings as most of them were born in Blount county TN. A 30 year old Samuel Ewing had a 60 year old Ann Ewing living with him. I think Ann was probably his (and Margaret's) mother. I then discovered that a Henry and an Ann Ewing were buried in Caldwell Cemetery in Vigo county. Ann died in 1859 at the age of 69 which makes it seem likely that she was the Edgar county Ann. I also noticed that a Caldwell family living next door to Samuel Ewing in Edgar county had several family members born in Blount county TN. I wonder if they were related to the Ewings.

There was also a John Ewing who had a wife Minerva, born in Pulaski county KY, and a 60 year old Jane Campbell in his household. Jane might have been Minerva's and John's mother. Unfortunately I didn't find any Campbell the right age to have been the father in the Vigo county cemetery records. The older Campbells might have died in Edgar county. Perhaps the Edgar County Genealogical Society, P.O. Box 304, Paris IL 61944-0304, could search Edgar county cemetery records for you. I hesitated to copy the Edgar county census as you mentioned that you had seen it. If you would like copies anyway, let me know. If you don't want copies I will return your check as we don't charge for research.

To Whom It May Concern:

I recently wrote to the Vigo County Courthouse requesting information on a family history. Deputy Clerk, L. Jeffries returned my check along with a notation that while she could not help me, perhaps your special department could. If you could be of service, I would be grateful.

I am requesting assistance in any family records pertaining to John H. and Margaret Campbell who lived in Vigo County. According to the 1850 Illinois census, John H. and Margaret resided in Vigo in 1836 as a daughter, Elizabeth, was born during that year. A second daughter, Nancy, was also born in Vigo County in 1838, but the next sibling's birth was recorded in Edgar County, Illinois, in 1841. This third child, Alexander, born in 1841, was my grandfather.

I am able to trace Margaret's birth in Blount County, Tennessee, in approximately 1808, and John H was born in 1810 in Pulaski County, Kentucky. I cannot find any reference to John H. before 1810. I have visited Blount County, Pulaski County, and Edgar County with no success in reference to John H. before 1810.

I am interested in any information you may have - marriage, death, or any reference pertaining to this family. I am enclosing a small check although I realize this may not cover all information. If additional monies is needed, I would be glad to send that also.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Mildred C. Lemaster

I am enclosing a copy of a page listing Campbells from the Indiana 1850 Census Index. As you can see, there were several Robert Campbells in Indiana but none in Clay county, nor did the 1840 census index list a Robert Campbell in Clay county.

I also checked the indexes of Blanchard's 1884 Counties of Clay and Owen and Travis' 1909 History of Clay County but did not find any mention of Robert or Orlando Campbell. The index to Blanchard's history lists only those people for whom biographical sketches are given; it is not an every-name index.

The 1896 Encyclopedic Directory of Clay County lists an R.H. Campbell in Dick Johnson township and an R.R. Campbell in Bowling Green. R.H. was born in Parke county in 1838 and came to Clay county in 1883. R.R. was a huckster who was born in Clay county in 1848. Other Campbells are listed, but the first names are different.

You might try writing the Clay County Genealogical Society, P.O. Box 211, Brazil IN 47834. Perhaps they could help you.

I checked Revolutionary War Soldiers of Vigo County by Dorothy Clark, Roster of Revolutionary Ancestors of the Indiana DAR, and Roster of Soldiers and Patriots of the American Revolution Buried in Indiana by Mrs. Roscoe O'Byrne, including the two supplements, but did not find any mention of John Caldwell. He is not listed in Cemetery Records of Vigo County, Including All Born Prior to 1830 that Lived to Maturity by A. R. Markle or Cemeteries, Vigo County, Indiana by Virginia Wilhoit and Nelson Eddy. However, if John Campbell died in 1827 it is possible that his stone was destroyed long before anyone thought of copying cemetery records.

John Campbell is not listed in our transcript of Vigo county will book A, but that does not necessarily mean there would be no records on the probate of his estate. He is listed in our transcript of the Vigo county tract book; he entered land in Section 30, Township 11, Range 9, on 8 Nov. 1816. A Stephen Campbell entered land in Section 25, Township 11, Range 10, on 27 Sept. 1816.

Vigo County, Indiana, Marriage Licenses from 1818 to 1850 by Mae Johns gives the marriage of William Milholland and Lucy Campbell as 4 Aug. 1818.

The name John Campbell appears frequently in the Vigo county histories. Beckwith's 1880 History of Vigo and Parke Counties names him as an early settler "on the prairie east of Prairie-ton" and says that he had a son stolen by the Indians and never recovered the child. Bradsby's 1891 History of Vigo County lists "John Campbell, 1812" on the 1818 register of marks and brands for stock. A chapter of Bradsby's History is devoted to land entries and John Campbell's name appears among the deeds from 1821 to 1828. He is also listed as a petit juror in 1819 and county treasurer in 1824. In 1824 he was granted a liquor license. He acted as a surety in various estate settlements in 1819, 1822, and 1823. The recollections of Capt. Wm. Earle, the first male white child born in Terre Haute, mention that "John Campbell was for many years a merchant in Terre Haute, but he took to drinking and went from bad to worse till everything was gone."

Historically Speaking by Dorothy Clark names John and Stephen Campbell as early settlers of Prairieton township. Perhaps they were related. An Account of Vigo County from Its Organization (volume three of Logan Esarey's History of Indiana) says that in November 1818 John Campbell was allowed $6 for service as a grand juror in inspecting the foundations of the courthouse and viewing a road. He is named as county treasurer from 1825-29. Oakey's Greater Terre Haute and Vigo County has the same information and also mentions that in 1818 an indictment was brought against John Campbell for selling liquor to the Indians. This history names him as one of the young unmarried men who came here at an early date. That does not sound like a veteran of the Revolution. It seems that if John Campbell had been in the Revolution, one of the county histories would have picked up that information. However, if he died very early and the family left the area, knowledge of his service might have been lost.

Dorothy Clark is the regent of the Fort Harrison Chapter of the DAR, as well as the county historian. I'm sure she would be happy to hear from you regarding John Campbell. Her address is 2032 N. 8th St., Terre Haute IN 47804.

Dear Mrs. Merrill,

Thank you for your kind, prompt reply to my request for the information you had on John Campbell, circa 1865-1885. You were very generous in sending me all the photocopies of city directory listings. Many of the John Campbells are not the correct one. However, I feel that one of them may be. And, there is always the possibility that one of the other Campbells listed is an uncle or cousin. I do not throw away anything that may prove relevant at a later date so I will keep all of these.

The data we have on John Andrew Campbell and his wife, Ella Van Cleve of Illinois, is minimal for the period he lived in Terre Haute. He filled out two pension applications for his Civil War pension and they differ. According to one, he could have lived in T. H. as early as 1876 but by the dates on the other, he would have moved there in 1883. He says on one form that he lived there two years, on the other that he lived there nine years. These forms were filled out in the late 1890s and about 1910 so his memory was understandably vague. By that time, he had lost his wife, three children, and his mother so I would imagine that recalling all these events for the forms was an upsetting experience.

We have their marriage certificate from St. Louis in 1874. They were both listed as 'from Centralia, Illinois'. We have family legend that says he worked at one time for the 'Illinois Central Railroad'. We have clues that indicate they lived at some time in Centralia, Vandalia, Cairo and Effingham, all in Illinois. He did have a brother-in-law who is recorded as being a traveling passenger agent for the Ill. Central.

It was news to us that John A. had had four children. He never mentioned this to my mother. We only knew of two: my father, William John, born in Missouri in 1892, and a girl, Ada, born in February, 1876, PLACE UNKNOWN. It could have been T. H., perhaps. There were two other girls, born in 1875 and 1878, according to the papers from the National Archives, again birth-places unknown.

If you ever stumble across anything with a possible tie-in, I would be grateful for the data. According to an old obituary for John's mother in 1900, She, Catherine Williamson, and William Campbell, were married in Logan County, Ky. in 1838. He died in Illinois in 1854. There is no mention of them living in Indiana.

Thank you again for your interest and generosity.

Dear Miss Merrill,

Thank you for your kind letter and I understand about my first letter being misplaced. I know how easy that is, just with my geneology correspondence.

You said that you found a John Campbell listed in city directories between 1870 and 1875, who was a teamster. It is possible that this is the relative I am searching for so I would appreciate having the exact years and anything else that you may be able to provide about him. John Andrew and his wife, Ella, were Methodists. They were married in St. Louis, Mo. in 1874 (we have the certificate) and their first child is believed to be a girl, born in 1875, place unknown.

The inquiry about the Illinois Central was based upon the fact that a gentleman once indicated to my father that John Andrew had worked for the Illinois Central Railroad. This was a fact which was unknown to my father so it must have been before 1890. There is another possibility that he once worked for the Rock Island. 1874

In a pension form filed with the National Archives, John Andrew stated on one affidavit that after his discharge from Civil War service, in 1865, he lived 9 years in Terra Haute for 9 years; on an affidavit filed four years earlier, he stated that he lived 18 years in Centralia, Illinois, then 2 years in Terra Haute. This would make his residence in T. H. either 1865-1874 OR 1883-1885. We know for sure that he was living in Missouri by about 1890.

Thank you for your interest in my research. I hope that you will be able to provide me with some additional information, no matter how small.

Sincerely yours,

I am sending copies of the entries listing John Campbell, teamster, 1868 - 1882. If I knew the names of his children, perhaps I could check the census of 1870 for you. There were a number of John Campbells at one time, you will notice, and unless I can tell which is the right one, it would be useless to make the copies.

In fact, there was a John Campbell living in Terre Haute in 1817, who was a clerk in Lucius Scott's store. He was convicted of selling liquor to the Indians in 1818.

Dear Mrs. Mogerl:

I am sorry to have been so long in answering your letter, but it was misplaced. I did not find your John Andrew Campbell. There was a John Campbell between 1870 and 1875 who was listed in city directories as a teamster, but I do not think that he was the right one. We have decennial censuses only, and I checked the 1870 Census but did not find his name.

The Illinois Central RR was first listed in 1876. In the 1878-9 directory, it was listed as the Illinois Midland Ry.

We have no marriage records for 1874, nor birth records for 1875. No state census are available. I wonder if you know what their Church affiliation was? Sometimes it is possible to find marriage and baptism records there.

Dear Sir: your name was handed to me as one who might be able to help me get the connecting links to my ancestor, one "Andrew Campbell" who served in the Revolutionary War.

He was stolen from his family while small by the Indians. During the War he met James Campbell who had also been taken by the Indians. They supposed they were brothers. However I know nothing of James.

Andrew was married and raised a family. But I can tell you nothing of the family except of one son James and a daughter Hannah.

James, son of Andrew Campbell married Margaret Holmes. She was Scotch Irish decent. They were both born, raised, and married in Pennsylvania. Their children were Elizabeth, Allen, Sally, James, Hannah and Moses.

Hannah, daughter of Andrew, married a Mr Brageal. Don't know how many children they had or any of their names.

Elizabeth, daughter of James was married to John Bluff. She was born in South Carolina in 1790. Their children were Melinda, Margaret, Sally, Samuel, Louis, Jane and Mary.

Allen, son of James, married Margaret Cathey. He was born in South Carolina in 1792. She was born in North Carolina. They were married in North Carolina in 1815. They had nine children. -- Rebecca, Andrew, and Hannah are all of the names I can name.

Sally, daughter of James, married Archib McKinry. She was born in North Carolina in 1794. They had six children. -- Allen, Sarah Ann, and Ruth Elizabeth are all the names remembered.

James, son of James, married Ruth Anderson in Missouri 12-31-1819. He was born in South Carolina in 1796. She was born in North Carolina in 1805. Their children were - - Polly Caroline, Lucrea

Melinda, James Anderson, Sally Ann,
John Henry and Allen Green.

Sally Ann daughter of James and I hope that through this line of ancestors you will be able to

If I can aid you in any further manner I will be at your

Local Teacher Effective Biography (T.H.) Booster of National Guard

JUN 15 1972
By JAMES DRESSLER

Tribune Staff Writer

One of the most effective boosters of the Indiana Army National Guard in Terre Haute and the Wabash Valley is Maj. Glenden D. Campbell.

Campbell, a popular government and economics teacher at Terre Haute North Vigo High School during the school year, is working full-time for the National Guard during the summer months recruiting new members of the 38th Supply and Transport Battalion, which he serves as executive officer.

The battalion includes units in Terre Haute, Rockville, Greencastle and Brazil, with a total of about 400 members.

Discussing his summer role of recruiter, Campbell said:

"We need 30 recruits or prior servicemen to get our battalion up to full strength, and we intend to reach that goal this summer, hopefully by June 30."

While additional members of a National Guard unit can give a big boost to the battalion, the National Guard also offers many benefits to its members, Campbell says.

Campbell, pointing out that there are financial and educational benefits to devoting a weekend a month to the National Guard, said:

"From a financial standpoint, the National Guard offers a good supplement to a man's income.

"For example, a new recruit, a private with no experience, can earn $40 for a two-day drill once a month. And the pay goes up with rank and experience.

"A master sergeant with over 20 years experience can earn $120 a weekend at the one-weekend-a-month drills. And that's certainly a valuable supplement to any man's income.

"We are interested in new Army recruits and in prior servicemen.

"Right now, we have a variety of positions open for semi tractor-trailer operators, vehicle and equipment repair specialists, personnel administrative specialists, stock control and accounting, cooks, petroleum storage, communications and electronics repair, and others.

"In Rockville, for example, our unit has sent men to school and they come back as qualified semi tractor drivers. That's a course that would cost a little bundle of money at a private school."

The 38-year-old Campbell has been associated with the Army since 1953 when he enlisted as a private in the regular Army.

After serving three years of active duty, he received a direct commission as a second lieutenant. When he finished his active duty, he joined the National Guard and enrolled at Indiana State University.

Since graduating from ISU, he has combined his part-time National Guard activities with his teaching career, teaching three years at Martinsville, Ill., and then joining the teaching staff of the Vigo County School Corp. (VCSC) in 1963.

Active in teacher organization, he is a past president of the local American Federation of Teachers (AFT).

As he looks ahead to a summer of activity recruiting new members of the Army National Guard, Campbell said:

"The National Guard always has been a challenge, and I believe it provides a lot of satisfaction. In addition the pay is a tremendous supplement to my regular income."

Campbell said anyone interested in talking to him about a "second career" in the National Guard should contact him at the National Guard Armory, 301 N. 9th St., or at his home at RR 51, Terre Haute.

Albert D. Campbell Marks 101st Birthday Wednesday

A former Terre Haute resident Albert D. Campbell will mark his 101st birthday anniversary Wednesday, June 7.

Born in New York in 1871, Campbell came to Terre Haute in 1889. He came to Terre Haute to work in the office of the former Terre Haute Shovel & Tool Company.

Campbell said he quit school at the age of 14 but later attended commercial college.

Reflecting back on the "good old days" Campbell said that he can remember seeing his first auto, on the streets of Chicago, and no less being driven by a woman.

"In those days most of my traveling across the country was done by train," Campbell said.

Campbell once worked at the Terre Haute Fromme Lumber Company, located at 7th and Hulman Sts., the former McWhinney Candy Co., located on N. 9th St., and the Terre Haute Street Railway.

Retired now for more than 30 years Campbell said he dearly loves to read. In fact, nearly all of his time is spent reading.

"I dearly love to have a comfortable place to read a good book. Between pages once in a while I'll catch a few winks just to rest my eyes," Campbell said.

Campbell spends the summer months in Michigan, the spring and fall in Terre Haute and the winter months in Florida.

"Spending my time in these three locations affords me an opportunity to nice warm weather," Campbell added.

Campbell said that when he celebrated his 100th birthday a doctor in Florida advised him that he shouldn't smoke but at your age who am I to advise anything.

For his birthday last year Campbell received an anniversary card from President Richard M. Nixon wishing him many more years of good health. Several other national political figures also sent Campbell birthday cards.

Campbell said he hopes to spend a quiet birthday Wednesday possibly reading a good book.

Campbell is staying with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Heramb.

Mr. Campbell has five children, Mrs. Marjorie Clark, Florida; Mrs. Lois MacDonald, Michigan; Mrs. Mary Purcell, Mrs. Louise Heramb and Mervyn Campbell, all of Terre Haute.

'Long May Your Lum Reek'

Greetings: David Campbell

Community Affairs File

Biography (T.H.) S FEB 29 1972

By FRANCES E. HUGHES
Star Staff Writer

David Campbell, RR 31, will observe his 20th birthday Tuesday.

But he will be 84 years old. For Campbell was born in Leap Year — Feb. 29, 1888, — in Dunfermline, Scotland.

Since the retired coal miner only has a birthday every four years, his wife and friends planned four birthday parties for him this year. The first was Friday night, then there was one Sunday afternoon, one Monday evening and there will be one Tuesday evening.

"Long may your lum reek" will be the greeting from friends to Campbell. This means "Long may your chimney smoke" or "Long may you live and prosper."

At all the birthday parties for Campbell, there has been singing, for his wife is a talented pianist and both he and his wife like to sing. "My Aen Country" has been a favorite at every event.

+ + +

Friday night's party was an evening of music, with Scotch songs featured; Sunday afternoon's event was that of the Gracia Class of the First Baptist Church, of which both Mr. and Mrs. Campbell are members; Monday evening's affair was a social evening for relatives and a few close friends, and Tuesday night's party will be given by members of the Campbells' Birthday Club.

All of the celebrations are being held at the home of the couple. This is Mrs. Campbell's family's home, where she was born, and she and her husband have lived there ever since their marriage.

Campbell, after almost 60 years in this country, still retains his Scotch accent. But America is his home — the one he chose of his own accord and came back to a second time after returning for six years to his native land.

Campbell immigrated to the United States with his father in 1910 and came on to Terre Haute because he had a friend who had come here to work in the mines. Campbell had worked in coal mines in Scotland from the time he was 12 years old. His father didn't like the cold weather in winter and the extreme heat in summer. So, in 1914, the two returned to Scotland. At the time there was a strike at the Glen Ayr Mine where they both worked.

The father never returned, but Campbell came back six years later. He joined the British Army when he returned to his native land and served in that army, most of the time in France, until the Armistice in 1918. In 1920, he returned to Terre Haute and resumed his work at the Glen Ayr Mine.

It was a Terre Haute girl, Gertrude Price, whom Campbell chose for his wife. They were married in 1927, and had the son who died in infancy.

+ + +

Campbell worked in the Glen Ayr Mine until it closed in 1933. After that he farmed on the land surrounding his home, and worked as engineer at the Terre Haute House for 10 years until his retirement in 1958.

Mrs. Campbell worked as assistant to Dr. H. R. Vandivier for many years.

At the turn of the century, there was an eight-year period between birthdays for Campbell as there was an eight-year stretch between Leap Years. The local man says he used to cry when he was a little boy and his brothers had birthdays and he didn't.

Campbell is a life member of member of the Farm Bureau and an honorary member of the and an honorary member of the Apple Avenue Women's Christian Temperance Union. He likes to read, enjoys singing and, obviously, has many friends.

Sent Claim sheet for this and no 1

My dear Librarian:

Of course we do not know whether your Library has much of a purchasing fund, or not. If you can possibly purchase "The Highlander" (it is $1.00 a copy) every dollar will help us in bringing out our No. 3, for which we have a great deal of fine material. If you can not purchase, it is your Library's as a "Gift."

Miss Helen Bruner of the Research and Reference Dept., the big San Francisco Library says, "I do not see how you can afford to sell "The Highlander" for one dollar." It does represent a great deal of time and tireless work. This edition cost us $1,200. The No. 1 "Highlander" cost us $1,081. So you see they are an expensive book. We should like to make our records and History available to every community throughout the Land, as the Campbells are intermarried with so many families.

The following exquisite verse was sent in by one of our Members for a Greeting card, especially for our Service men. Gen. Douglas McArthur is Clan Campbell descent, also Gen. John J. Pershing of the first World War, Admiral Isaac Campbell Kidd (killed at Pearl Harbor); the hero of Midway, Lieut. Walter Campbell Sweeney, and his father Gen. Walter Campbell Sweeney, Admiral Edward Hale Campbell, Commander W. B. Ammon, and many, many others of the Nation's heroes. The great Historian Fosdick says, "A Nation's history is made up of the history of its Families."

The great Library of Congress, Washington, D. C. said of our No. 1 "Highlander," "It is the finest of some 30 books and pamphlets we have on the Campbell Family." Encyclopedia Britannica wrote our member, Mr. Robert E. Campbell of Chicago, in 1937, "The Highlander" and Mrs. Mary Latham Norton are an excellent source of genealogical information on the Campbell Clan." "The Highlander" is a treasure house of American Family records and interesting history. Innumerable families connected by marriage with the great Campbell Clan (two-million strong in America today) are included. If you have a copy of our No. 1 "Highlander" you do not need to be persuaded of their value. (If you do not have No. 1. copies are still available at $1.00 plus 4 cts., postage, 40 page magazine.)

Clan Campbell Association of America is a Patriotic, Hereditary Society.

Cordially yours,
(Mrs.) Mary Latham Norton.

Greetings, Allied Soldiers.

Oh, you whom love of Country sends
To other Lands beyond the sea;
Whose valor and high courage lends,
A shining crown to Liberty.

To Allied Soldiers, one and all,
Who from their duty never swerve,
But nobly at their Country's call,
Make answer bravely, "Yes, we serve."

"Serve a Righteous Cause and Just,"
And marching hear a clarion Voice--
"While sun and moon and stars shall shine,
My people shall abide-- Rejoice!"

We send you Greetings, comrades, true,
What'er your names, where'er you be--
Our hopes, our tears, our Prayers are yours,
'Til you return in VICTORY.

We should greatly appreciate receiving your advance order for the novel "The Rose of Auzenburg" of which a new edition will shortly be published. At the present time when Kings and Courts are fast disappearing from the Earth, and the glamour that has always surrounded Royalty, you will enjoy living from day to day at a charming and delightful Old World Court, seeing the daily life of a King, his defeats, his triumphs, his loves. The intimate goings on at Auzenburg, intrigue, treachery, and loyalty. The characters tread the stage of the Auzen Court real live human beings who live and love and hate as people in every-day life.

The author has made a study for many years of Europe and the events affecting Royalty, and is perhaps able to write more authentically of such than any contemporary American author.

THE CAMPBELL FAMILY HISTORY

My thanks to everyone that helped to make the Campbell history as complete as it is.

I have worked on the Campbell history a long time and know, in my own mind, that it is not as complete as I would like it to be. I have not been able to obtain all the information on some of the marriages and so have a few omissions (e.g., where there was a divorce and no children involved). There may be mistakes on my part, or in the information given me -- I have checked and rechecked and still find mistakes.

I have enjoyed making this study of the Campbell history, and the thing I regret most is not being able to go further into the history when our ancestors were located in the Highlands of Scotland. (Perhaps we should be the owners of a large castle, or at least part of one.)

Oris Campbell

The Campbell family has been prominent in the British Empire and in the United States, its members having played important roles in war and peace. All Campbells have just cause to be proud of their family history and traditions.

The oldest spelling of Campbell (that in Ragman Roll, A. D. 1296) is Cambel or Kambel. Authorities say it is derived from the family of the Wife of Malcolm, an ancient ancestor of the Campbells. He went to France where he married the heiress of the House of Beauchamp, niece of William, Duke of Normandy. Beauchamp translated, became Campus-bellus and finally Campbell.

Though it is not certain whether the name be Norman or Gaelic in origin, it is true that the clan bearing it are the most numerous and powerful in the highlands. Their superior influence and power made them feared by the other clans.

The Scottish clan was a group of men all bearing the same surname and believing themselves related. In reality, not only the descendants but those employed or conquered by the Campbells bore the surname. The original Campbell clan was located at Lochow.

As the clan grew in number it divided into septs or branches. These branches include the Campbells of Argyle, the Campbells of Bradalbain and the Campbells of Cawder. All the various branches of the Campbell clan were of Scottish Nobility. The list of Lords, Dukes, Earls and Baronets is endless.

The Campbell Story

Josiah Campbell, the father of Martin Miller Campbell, my Grandfather, was born in the State of Virginia now known as Kentucky. He settled in Marion County where my grandfather was born. Later he moved his family to Taylor County, not far from the county seat of Campbellsville, Kentucky, and near the community of Yuma where he raised his family. From my childhood I remember Grandpa saying the reason for choosing this place was the water. It was close to Casey Creek for the livestock and there was a good spring close to the house. One of Grandpa's stories was that his father, whatever the weather 365 days a year, would go to this spring for his morning wash before breakfast.

Another story I have often heard him tell was of the scarcity or lack of money to buy black powder for the old muzzle-loader he used to hunt wild turkeys. In order to get two with one shot, he would wait until two turkeys would position themselves so that their necks would make an X then shoot out the center of the X.

There is another story that has remained vivid through the years - from my Grandpa or his father - that makes me realize what a difficult time those people had making this country safe for later generations. The story is that when two friends met to talk, they would stand back to back so that both could be watching for Indians.

I asked Hellen Power Gaskins to write her memories of our Grandparents. This is the answer to my request.

In memory of Grandpa and Grandma Campbell -

To know them was to love them

Sometimes the heart can not give forth all that it fain would say.

Words seem but empty, useless things like mist that fades away.

And so my heart is full of things
I cannot express,

But you who knew my Grandparents know I had the very best.

Some folks just pass like ships and leave no ripples on life's stream.

We meet them and forget them like shadows in a dream.

But some folks are so wonderful,
fine, dear and true,

They live forever in our hearts,
wonderful Grandparents like you.

I wish this little verse could tell how very dear you are to me.

Some things can not be put into words and this is one, you see

So I'll just say "Thank You" my dears, and hope this tells in part,

The beautiful memories of you,
the good times and the never failing Love you left within my heart.

I know God has you in His keeping.

Signed - Your loving granddaughter,
Hellen Marie Power Gaskins

Martha Ann Campbell died May 7, 1917

"And waiting a little longer
For the wonderful change to come
He heard the summoning angel
Who calls God's children home."

John Fleece, son of Josiah and Mary Ann Overstreet Campbell, was born in Marion County, Kentucky, Aug. 18, 1846. The family later moved to Taylor County where the mother died when John was quite young.

His schooling was obtained in a log school house with puncheon floors and split logs upheld by wooden pegs for seats. He could only attend school about six weeks of the year as his time was needed to work at home during the other half of the three month terms. But with meager education for a stepping stone, he became, in later life, a great reader, keeping himself well posted on the affairs of the day and spending many happy hours with his books and daily newspaper.

The family was living in Casey County when John reached his majority, when in his own words "Having nothing to sell but his labor and not wishing to compete with the freed slaves" he decided to come to Indiana. Accompanied on this trip by his brother, Miller, two years his junior, by the time they reached Indianapolis their funds were exhausted. They came "on foot" to Lizton, taking "the better part of a day" to reach their destination where they sought lodging with friends. The first employment he had in the state was on the Big Four railroad, which was under construction through Lizton at that time. The wages from that labor amounting to $5.00, from some oversight, were never paid.

He was married to Martha Ann Scott on Mar. 9, 1879. This was a marriage of love and devotion which grew stronger with each passing year. Two children, a son and a daughter, were born to this union, both dying in infancy. To satisfy their great love for children, they later took a baby girl, Virginia Detmor, into their home where she was given their name and tenderly reared to womanhood.

On May 7, 1917 his beloved companion passed away and so closely had their lives been associated it took years for him to adjust his life without her presence. After her death he was cared for by Virginia, whose children became the joy of his later years.

He was a member of the Lizton M. E. Church and was a regular attendant at the Montgomery Chapel, where he and his wife often walked from their late home to attend services. A charter member of the Masonic Order at North Salem, he also held the distinction of being the oldest member of the Order at that place.

He was a great lover of nature and spent much of his time out of doors. Blessed with a strong constitution, he enjoyed good health during his entire life. He was stricken with his first sickness Sept. 20 and with little suffering he peacefully fell asleep at 8:45 P.M. Monday, Oct. 9, 1933, at the age of 87 years, 1 month and 21 days. Death came at his home where he had resided for fifty years.

He will be greatly missed by the neighbors' firesides where his ready wit, quaint philosophy and keen sense of humor made him a welcome visitor.

Besides the foster daughter, Mrs. Thomas Griggs and her family, he leaves to survive him, one brother, Miller Campbell, of Blackhawk, Ind., and a number of nieces and nephews.

Content with the simple life he dwelt among us. We pay our tribute of respect to an honest upright man. Though he has reached the end of his journey on this earth, his influence will live on and strengthen the character of those with whom he came in contact.

"Life's night rests feet that long have stood."

Martin Miller Campbell was born Mar. 10, 1848 and died Dec. 26, 1941. Born in Marion County, Kentucky. He moved to Taylor County, Kentucky when a small child. He died in Vigo County, Indiana and is buried with wife and daughter in Brown Cemetery, Pearson Township, Vigo County, Indiana.

Stories of my Grandfather's childhood are heartbreaking by standards of today. He did not have a pair of pants until he was a large boy, just a long tailed shirt. His mother died when he was a small boy and he was raised by a stepmother which he did not like. According to him she was mean as hell to all of the children. Often I have heard him tell of slipping off to go swimming and then putting dust on his face and neck to keep from getting whipped by old Edna.

According to memories of my father, James, and myself, Grandpa came to Indiana at the age of 16 with friends of the family who were moving to Illinois. His job was to help with the livestock. They came as far north as they could before winter set in and that was Pearson township, Vigo County, Indiana. There they stayed with a farmer by the name of Harmon Weddle who gave them a room in his home for the winter. The winter was rainy and wet and the Illinois gumbo would stick to the wagon wheels and ball up until a team of horses could not pull a wagon through the swampy mucky roads or trails they had in those days. I have no record as to what happened to this family.

That spring Grandpa got a job on the farm of Abe Pearson, where he later worked thirty years for a dollar a day. He worked that summer and until after harvest in the fall. Then he went home to Kentucky. I have heard him say he was the sickest that summer he ever was in his life. He was homesick and said even the birds did not sound natural.

He stayed in Kentucky that winter and in the spring he and his brother, John, came to the vicinity of Lizton, Indiana, where they had relation on their maternal side of the family. There was nothing for them to do in Kentucky as the slaves had been freed and they did not want to compete with them. When they arrived in this area there was a railroad under construction. They got a job for two dollars a week. They worked two weeks for which they were never paid. At that time they had the sum of ten cents and a twist of tobacco, which they divided.

The record is not complete. Sometime later they started looking for their brother, Frederick, but lost all trace of him in the vicinity of Gosport, Indiana. Then they went to Illinois to look for sister, Sarah, but found that she and her family had moved to Texas. Later John went back to Lizton, Indiana and Grandpa went back to work for Abe Pearson.

During their travels they had kept in touch with their brother, James, who had been in the Civil War and afterwards located in Sherman, Texas. They lost all trace of their brother, Benjamin. He had disappeared leaving a family on a farm in Kentucky. Sometime later he remarried and raised another family. One of his sons questioned his father about his family and learned that Ben had a brother in the Civil War. The son wrote to the War Department and obtained James' address and wrote to him. James, in turn, wrote to Grandpa and said "I think I have located Ben at Rockport, Indiana". Grandpa made a trip to Rockport to see his long lost brother, Ben, who by this time had acquired a large family. Thus the four brothers that we know of today, James, John, Martin and Benjamin, were brought together. I have no record as to dates when all of these events took place.

It is not known when or where he met Eva Ann Bailey of Lizton, Indiana. They were married on Mar. 14, 1872 and to this union nine children were born. They moved to Pearson Township before the birth of their first child, Tessie, who was born in Vigo County on Mar. 10, 1873. They moved back to Hendricks County sometime before the birth of Mary C. on Feb. 15, 1875. Before the birth of Otto on Dec. 1, 1881 they had returned to Pearson Township, where the rest of the children were born.

From that time until the death of Grandpa they lived in the community of Pearson Township near the Brown Jug School and south of the town of Blackhawk and Soonover. I think most of us remember the old home they loved, cherished, and in which they had spent many happy years together.

Martin Miller Campbell married Eva Ann Bailey, born Mar. 8, 1853 and died Jan. 10, 1946. They were married on Mar. 14, 1872. They are buried in Brown Cemetery, Pearson Township, Vigo County, Ind. Children:

Campbell Coat of Arms

THE CAMPBELL FAMILY

ARMS: (Duke of Argyle) Quarterly 1st and 4th gyronny of eight or. and sa. 2nd and 3rd ar. a lymphed, her sails furled and oars in action, all sa. flag and pennants flying gu. for Lorn.

CREST: A boar's head couped or. Wording over the crest: NE OBLIVISCARIS.

MOTTO: VIX EA, NOSTRO VOCO.

AUTHORITY: General Armory, Burke.

So much has already been written about the Campbells, one could hardly add more. Yet, to leave out this family, one would omit some of the most glowing and heroic leaders of the time; hence, a brief sketch is given.

The early Virginia Campbells trace their pedigree back to Scotland, Argyshire; here, their clan flourished and history recorded their deeds of valor in war and in peace. Those emigrants who came over from Ireland to America, in 1726, and settled in Pennsylvania, were of the noble family of Duncan Campbell, born in Invernary, Scotland, who married Mary McCoy and had sons, Dugald, Robert and John.

John Campbell

John Campbell, son of Duncan and Mary, came to America with his family, along with many relatives and friends. They settled at Donegal, Lancaster Co., Pennsylvania. He was born in Scotland in 1674; m. in Ireland in 1695, Grace Hay, daughter of Patrick Hay. Here, their nine children were born, viz. - Patrick, John, William, James, Robert, David, Margaret, Catherine and Mary. They were of the Scottish Presbyterian Church and true to their faith.

Of these children, John went back to England, James returned to Ireland, and William Campbell died in Pennsylvania. The others came with their parents to Virginia. In 1830, John Campbell, the father, bought a large tract of land in the Valley of Virginia, in Orange County, which later became Augusta, and here he later moved with his family. John died in Augusta County before 1741, when his estate was administered.

Patrick Campbell

Patrick Campbell, the eldest child of John and Grace Campbell, was born in 1696, married Deliliah Thompson. They had four sons and three daughters, Charles, William, Patrick, James, Mary, Martha and _____.?

Charles Campbell

Charles Campbell, the eldest son of Patrick and Deliliah Campbell, served in the Augusta County Militia, and was in the French and Indian War, in which service he became a colonel. He died in Augusta in 1767; married Margaret Buchanan. They had two sons, John, who died young, and William, and daughters, Elizabeth, who m. John Taylor, Jane, who m. John Tate, Margaret, who m. Col. Arthur Campbell, and Anne, who m. Richard Poston.

Charles Campbell died testate. His will is in Augusta County, of August 4, 1761, was proved in court and admitted to record March 17, 1767. In his will, he speaks of himself as a resident of Beverly's Manor. He appointed his wife, Margaret, as sole executrix, provided for her support, and left 1,000 acres of land on the Holston to his son, William, and left land in the same section to his daughters, then Fincastle County, later

Washington County.

Soon after the death of Col. Charles Campbell, his wife moved with her family to the Holston, on the land which was patented to her husband, 22 August 1753, and which he bequeathed to his children. Margaret Campbell left a will in Washington County, dated 13 October 1777, probated ca. 18 March 1778, in which she named her heirs.

Gen. William Campbell

William Campbell, son of Charles and Margaret, was born in Augusta County, near Staunton, 1744; baptized September 1, 1745, in Tinkling Spring Presbyterian Church, by the Rev. John Craig. William Campbell became famous for his leadership in the Colonial and Continental Armies of the Revolutionary War, in which he did distinguished service. It was said of him, "He was regarded as an officer of the highest order of military talents." He was Captain of a Company in Lord Dunmore's War in May of 1774, he commanded a regiment at the Battle of Guilford Courthouse in North Carolina, and was the Commander of the American Forces at the Battle of King's Mountain. General William Campbell died young, in 1781, age 36. His will is recorded in Washington County, Virginia.

His will, dated 13 October 1777, was probated 10 April 1782. In it, he names his wife, Elizabeth, and children, Charles Henry and Sarah Buchanan Campbell.

Gen. Campbell married Elizabeth Henry, sister of the famous Virginia statesman, Patrick Henry. Elizabeth Henry Campbell, widowed, m. 2nd, Gen. William Russell.

Charles Henry Campbell died young. Sarah Buchanan Campbell married Francis Preston of Abingdon, Virginia. Ch.: Eliza, William, Sarah B., Sophrenisba, James, John S. and Margaret Preston.

In the early days of Lee Co., Virginia, thousands of acres of land were owned here, by the Campbells, Arthur, Hugh, Anne, William, James and John.

Patrick Campbell, son of Patrick and Delilah (Thompson) Campbell, and brother to Charles, married and went to the southern part of Kentucky, where he left many descendants.

David Campbell

David Campbell (youngest son of John, the emigrant, and his wife, Grace Hay), b. in Ireland, ca. 1715; d. January 1791, testate in Washington Co., Virginia. His will, dated 22 January, 1783, was probated January, 1791. His son, Patrick, was named executor. He gave his son, Patrick, his plantation, Royal Oak. The remainder of his estate was left to his children: Martha, James, Sarah, and Ann, in Washington County.

David Campbell married Mary Hamilton, ca. 1739-40, in Augusta Co., Virginia. Their children (11):

(1) John Campbell, baptized 12 July, 1741, by the Rev'd John Craig at Tinkling Spring.

(2) Arthur Campbell, baptized 15 January, 1744; b. 1743.

(3) James Campbell, baptized 9 June, 1745.

(4) Margaret Campbell, b. 1749; m. David Campbell, b. 1753 (son of David and Jane), removed to Tennessee, 1781.

(5) David Campbell, b. 1750, Major in the Revolution; m. Elizabeth Outlaw; He was judge in Tennessee.

(6) Robert Campbell, b. 1755; Served in the Continental Army in the Revolutionary War; m. Rebecca McDonald in 1785. Ch. David, Robert, Edward.

(7) Mary Campbell, m. William Lockhart; Will probate August 4, 1795. One son, James.

(8) Martha Campbell

(9) Sarah (Sally) Campbell

(10) Ann Campbell; m. Archibald Roane, Attorney, b. Pennsylvania.

(11) Patrick Campbell, executor of his father's will; b. 1758; m. Martha Long.

John Campbell

(1) In 1765, John Campbell, the eldest son of David and Mary (Hamilton) Campbell, in company with Dr. Thomas Walker, explored the wilderness in the southwest, and purchased for his father and himself an ancient survey near the headwaters of the Holston River, called the Royal Oak. (Royal Oak was mentioned in his father's will). Here, the family moved, a few years afterward. John and Arthur, the two eldest sons, preceded their father, accompanied by one sister, Margaret, then 18 years of age, and made improvements on the new land, near where the present town of Abingdon now stands. Shortly, thereafter, the father and mother and the other children followed. While serving with his father against the Indians, Arthur was taken prisoner, at the age of 16, and held three years on Lake Champlain before he escaped.

Col. Arthur Campbell

(2) Arthur Campbell, second son of David and Mary (Hamilton) Campbell, and known as the father of the Lee Co., Va., Campbells, was born 3 November 1744, in Augusta Co., Va.; His will, dated 3 May 1810, was probated 2 September 1811, Knox Co., now Bell Co., Kentucky. He married his cousin, Margaret Campbell, sister of the King's Mountain hero, Gen. William Campbell, and daughter of Charles and Margaret B. Campbell.

"Arthur Campbell was a man of importance in the early affairs of Southwestern Virginia and Southeastern Kentucky. He represented Fincastle County in the first constitutional convention of Virginia, 1776, was one of the first Justices of the Peace of Fincastle and of Washington County, 1773, and was Lieutenant Colonel of Washington County Militia. ("Virginians in the Revolutionary War, 1776-1785," by John H. Gwathney)

Col. Arthur Campbell received 2,000 acres of bounty land for his services in the Cherokee Indian War and was paid 41 lbs. for the time he was prisoner of the Indians on the Champlain Lakes. (Va. Magazine & History, Vol. II, page 26.) Numerous land transactions are recorded in Lee, Russell and Washington Counties, Va., and in Southeastern Ky., by Col. Arthur Campbell and his heirs.

Campbell County, Tennessee, was named for him. It was formed 11 September 1806, from Anderson and Claiborne (parts of these counties). Settlements had been made ten or more years earlier. He served throughout the American Revolution, and was for some years afterwards, one of the leaders in defense of the frontier. He removed to Yellow Creek, Knox Co., Ky., on the present site of Middlesboro, in now Bell Co., Ky., where he died in his 67th year.

"When Middlesboro first attracted the attention of the business people and was being developed, the grave of Colonel Arthur Campbell was discovered there in an out of the way place. The remains were removed by his Tennessee relations to Campbell Co., Tenn., in whose honor the county was named. His marker reads in part:

"Sacred to the memory of

COL. ARTHUR CAMPBELL

Who was born in Augusta, Co., Va., November 3, 1743

After a well spent life as his last moments well approve 67 years, 8 mos., 25 days, Knox Co., Ky.

The lamp was blown out by the devouring effects of cancer, the 8th Aug. 1811, leaving a widow, 6 sons, 6 daus.

Here lies entombed, a Revolutionary sage

An ardent patriot of the age

His stature tall,

His person portly,

His features handsome,

His manner courtly.

Sleep honored sire

In the realms of rest,

In doing justice to thy memory, a son is blest."

Lee County, Virginia Will Book 2, page 68 records the Will of Arthur Campbell.

State of Kentucky - At a court held for Knox County in the State of Kentucky on the 2nd day of September 1811

The last will and testament of Arthur Campbell deceased was produced in Court by Arthur L. Campbell one of the executors therein named and proved by the oaths of Peter Engle, William Craig and James Rice that they were well acquainted with the hand writing of the testator and that they believed the same to be his own hand writing. (The subscribing witnesses thereto living out of the jurisdiction of the State) It is therefore ordered by the Court that the aforesaid will be admitted to record and which is in words and figures following to wit:

I Arthur Campbell a citizen of the State of Virginia, now at times a resident in the State of Kentucky, being of perfect mind and memory and calling to mind the uncertain duration of this life to all men especially to the aged and infirm do now make this my last Will and Testament for the disposal of my body to be decently buried in garden part which was called Gidens Tinement, westwardly of Cumberland Gap and that a handsome but not costly Tomb Stone may tell where I lie., the expenses to be paid by any one of my executors out of my estate.

Imprimis: To my beloved wife Margaret $1000 to be used out of the sales of my land hereafter divided to be sold. To be laid out by my executors or any one of them. She may choose to purchase one or two negro women to attend her and to procure the necessities for her clothing and subsistence as she shall stand in need of. Also her right of dower in any one of the tracts of land bequeathed to my children; Also all my stock of horses cattle and hogs and all my household furniture provided she relinquishes her right of dower in such lands herein to be sold.

First: To my son William and daughter Elizabeth I give and bequeath a Gold ring of such value as my executors may judge proper and to each a Bible of the late American Edition as translated by Charles Thompson they having received valuable land for their patrimony.

Second: To my son John B. Campbell and Charles Lewis Campbell I give and bequeath all my lands lying in the State of Kentucky except my tract of 1000 acres near the town of Louisville and that of 600 acres on Flat Creek near Cumberland Gap to be made partition of by my two executors provided they cannot divide by mutual consent. Also to my son Charles $500 to complete his education as his brother John may think proper and to procure him suitable books for his profession.

Third: To my son Arthur Lee Campbell I give and bequeath the eastern part of my tract of 1500 acres conveyed to me by John Jones, the western part being already conveyed to my son James, also to my son Arthur all my remaining part of 7000 acres entered in the name of said Jones at and near Cumberland Gap. Also my tract of land called the Horse Shoe in Grainger County State of Tennessee containing 600 acres.

Fourth: To my daughter Margaret Campbell I give and bequeath the whole of my tract of land in Lee County called "Jacks Cabbins" being 3 in number and containing in all about 800 acres.

Fifth: To my daughter Mary Beard I give and bequeath full possession and the benefit of the dower part of my tract of land of 600 acres near Cumberland Gap during her natural life and after her decease, I give and bequeath the same to her son Arthur Beard in full right forever. Also to my said daughter Mary $400 to be paid by my executors of or two negro girls to be secured to her for life and after her decease to go to her daughter Margaret C. Beard.

Sixth: To my daughter Jane B. Campbell and Martha C. Campbell I give and bequeath the tracts of land in Lee County called "Glen Carin" containing upwards of 2000 acres - but not as joint tenants, but as tenants in common to be equally divided between them due to regard of quality and quantity by any two of my executors hereafter named provided my said daughters cannot make partition by mutual consent.

Seventh: To my daughter Ann Augusta Campbell I give and bequeath the westwardly division of my tract of land near Cumberland Gap to be divided from her sister Beards part...

Eighth: To my son James Campbell I give and bequeath surveyor compass, two chains together with my Mathematics book...he has already received land.

Ninth: To my son David Campbell I give and bequeath my tracts of land on Scycamore Creek containing in two surveys 800 acres and 40 acres provided he marries with the consent of my two executors in writing and should not said tracts be recovered from William Horde then in that event I give and bequeath to him my tract of land of 430 acres in Lee County adjoining and above the tract of "Glen Carin".

Tenth: With my tract of 1000 acres near Jonesville I direct may be sold by my executors as soon as it will bring $20. per acre at a credit of one, two and three years in equal installments. Also my tract of 625 acres at the mouth of Indian Creek in Claiborne County, Tennessee when it will bring $5.00 per acre, a like credit as the Jonesville tract. Also all my land in Virginia not above bequeathed and the money arising to be applied to the payment of any of my just debts, the discharge of the legacies above mentioned and the surplus to be equally divided among my four youngest daughters after their Mothers decease, She is to have the benefit of the interest of said overplus.

I hereby nominate my son John B. Campbell and Arthur

L. Campbell and Isaac Sawyers Executors of this my last Will and Testament 3 May 1810.

Arthur Campbell

Witness Present

Martin Beaty

Albert D. Campbell Marks 101st Birthday Wednesday

TO JUN 4 1972

A former Terre Haute resident Albert D. Campbell will mark his 101st birthday anniversary Wednesday, June 7.

Born in New York in 1871, Campbell came to Terre Haute in 1889. He came to Terre Haute to work in the office of the former Terre Haute Shovel & Tool Company.

Campbell said he quit school at the age of 14 but later attended commercial college.

Reflecting back on the "good old days" Campbell said that he can remember seeing his first auto, on the streets of Chicago, and no less being driven by a woman.

"In those days most of my traveling across the country was done by train," Campbell said.

Campbell once worked at the Terre Haute Fromme Lumber Company, located at 7th and Hulman Sts., the former McWhinney Candy Co., located on N. 9th St., and the Terre Haute Street Railway.

Retired now for more than 30 years Campbell said he dearly loves to read. In fact, nearly all of his time is spent reading.

"I dearly love to have a comfortable place to read a good book. Between pages once in a while I'll catch a few winks just to rest my eyes," Campbell said.

Campbell spends the summer months in Michigan, the spring and fall in Terre Haute and the winter months in Florida.

"Spending my time in these three locations affords me an opportunity to nice warm weather," Campbell added.

Campbell said that when he celebrated his 100th birthday a doctor in Florida advised him that he shouldn't smoke but at your age who am I to advise anything.

For his birthday last year Campbell received an anniversary card from President Richard M. Nixon wishing him many more years of good health. Several other national political figures also sent Campbell birthday cards.

Campbell said he hopes to spend a quiet birthday Wednesday possibly reading a good book.

Campbell is staying with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Heramb.

Mr. Campbell has five children, Mrs. Marjorie Clark, Florida; Mrs. Lois MacDonald, Michigan; Mrs. Mary Purcell, Mrs. Louise Heramb and Mervyn Campbell, all of Terre Haute.

T.H. Biography - Campbell

"TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENT NO. 1"—Mrs. Della Campbell of 3112 Linn Ave., North Terre Haute, has been reporting the NTH News for 59 of her 84 years of life. She will mark her 85th birthday in December and looks forward to many years yet of very interesting life as a correspondent, writer of general articles and poems. Photo by Martin.

The TRIBUNE's North Terre Haute correspondent, Mrs. Della Campbell, probably could lay claim to being the dean of all Indiana newspaper correspondents, and perhaps even the entire United States, in terms of having served one publication continuously for 59 years.

This is the achievement of this gracious lady and she is still going strong, enjoying good health and possibly an even keener "nose for news" as she approaches her 85th birthday in December.

The recollections of her years of North Terre Haute area reporting span so many events that it would take a book to chronicle them all. Mrs. Campbell, herself, has been listed in a number of internationally famous publications such as "Who's Who in American Women" and "International Who's Who In Poetry", a Cranbrook Tower Press publication of London, England.

Born in 1880 in the north-central Vigo County rural area now known as the Atherton community on land now called the Rosella Farms, the veteran TRIBUNE correspondent went to District School No. 4. The first building was near Rosedale, the second in the village.

She was one of only four in her eighth grade class who successfully passed the graduation examination and was awarded a scholarship to Vincennes University, the first school founded in 1801 being the predecessor of the present Indiana University.

Although the efforts of her beloved teacher, Mrs. Martha Hoggins, to get her into the early Hoosier university included Vincennes residence in the home of one of the campus professors, Mrs. Campbell's parents felt she was too young to leave home.

Gained Education

In 1901, she went to Greencastle for two years of study at DePauw University before her father's illness brought her back home where she continued her education at Brown's Business College, a long-standing commercial education institution which was consolidated with Terre Haute Commercial College some 20 years ago.

So exemplary had been her elementary school education that she was promoted immediately into second year English class at DePauw where she also studied mathematics, Latin and History.

Her association with the local newspaper world began while she was studying at Brown's, someone having suggested she write up some happenings in the community and send it in.

Her writing gained approval and she was soon retained as regular TRIBUNE correspondent with a commission to cover the entire North Terre Haute area, generally the northern sector of the county.

She was also asked to contribute to the editorial content of the Terre Haute Star and also had articles published in the Terre Haute Post, another of the city's early publications.

Friend of Editors

Her first TRIBUNE editor was the late William F. Cronin but she also notes that the present editor, Marsee A. Cox, was "a very special friend to me . . . as City Editor he authorized my checks".

She also recalls the late TRIBUNE State Editor Harry Hamby, who received and edited much of her copy, some of which she came into the newsroom offices and wrote on the spot soon after the events had happened.

"I liked the editor's office," she reminisced during a personal interview this week. "The air was filled with the smell of printer's ink. Anna Boles Wiley and I used to chat about our work as society writers and, at her death, I dedicated a poem to her."

"Words can never tell the many stories that have gone through my hands . . . weddings, births, deaths and other notable events of the area," Mrs. Campbell mused with a note of nostalgic pride.

Looking at her, hearing her vibrant words and sensing her keen interest in all things relating to her family, church, city and county, one would never suspect that Mrs. Campbell is over 65 years of age.

Prepares New Composition

She is currently preparing a presentation for the Terre Haute Poets Club regarding her recollections of news happenings in the Terre Haute and Vigo County area.

Some of them include her first stenographic job, a position with the Miller and Pike law firm at Clinton. The late Frank Miller later moved his practice to Terre Haute where he was associated with many prominent attorneys over the years.

The law library compiled by him and his last partner, Ernest Causey, was the nucleus via which the current County Law Library in the Vigo County Courthouse was established a few years ago.

As a school girl, she remembers standing at the Otter Creek railroad junction and watching two trainloads of youths moving out for assignments in the Spanish-American War.

She was a personal friend and corresponded regularly with the young man whose duty it was to carry the war's peace message from the flag ship in Cuba's Havana harbor to President McKinley.

Her school days recollections include the vivid remembrance of her seating assignment in the double seat arrangement of the day. The late Edward Lucas of Terre Haute (his wife still resides in the city) was her seat partner. "I remember his wool white hair in contrast to my real dark red hair," Mrs. Campbell remarked with a chuckle.

Recalls Thrashing Days

Recalling her father, Hosea D. Humphrey and his brother, Douglas, she related thrashing scenes connected with their large custom thrashing business. One of the largest thrashing fields, she recalls, was a farm located where Roselawn Memorial Park cemetery grounds are now situated.

The scores of persons who joined in the task, the big country-style dinners her mother and the other women would prepare and the fun the children had sliding down the mound of new-mowed hay the thrasher threw off were included in the yesterday scenes.

The greater part of Mrs. Campbell's life has been spent in North Terre Haute and on Linn Avenue, in particular, except for a few years in which she and her husband, the late William S. Campbell, resided in the city and in Elkhart.

After an early stint as driver of a horse-drawn Standard Oil petroleum wagon, Mr. Campbell was employed for many years with the Terre Haute Traction Company as a conductor and motorman on the former city street cars.

The tornado of 1913, floods that devastated much of the area and other momentous happenings are recalled by Mrs. Campbell along with the days when her children were young. Two of them are living — Mrs. Elsa A. Ross of North Terre Haute and William Myron Campbell, RR 1, Rosedale. He operates a farm while pursuing a "late in life" degree at Indiana State University where his son is also enrolled.

Mrs. Campbell recently received an invitation to submit her poems, stories, articles, letters, photographs and history for publication in the Syracuse University Library at Syracuse, N.Y.

This she plans to do while keeping her hand on the pulse of the North Terre Haute news "beat" for her weekly column in the Sunday Tribune-Star.

Apparently, her main bout with age has centered around her eyes which have dimmed slightly with the years. However, spectacles and a magnifying glass, on occasion, get her over this hump and life goes on with the greatest of pleasure for TRIBUNE Correspondent No. 1.
